1. True or False:

(a)  T  You can validate CSS files, in the same way you validate HTML files.
(b)  F  Every CSS property declaration ends with a period.
(c)  F  em specifies absolute sizes for fonts.
(d)  F  If you mix 100% red, 100% green, and 100% blue you will get black.
(e)  F  In strict HTML, you can nest block elements inside block elements.
(f)  F  Pseudoclasses must be defined in your HTML file to be used.
(g)  F  The div element is used to style in-line elements.
(h)  F  Tables are defined in columns, using the `<tc>` element.
(i)  T  The `<th>` element can designate either row or column headings.
(j)  T  POST and GET are both ways of sending data to the web application.

2. Answer in two sentences or less the following:

(a) What does the padding property do? Give an example.
   The padding property is used to add extra space around an element, inside the (optional) border. For example, `padding: 20px` adds 20 pixels of space around the element.

(b) What does the margin property do? How does it differ from the padding property?
   The margin property also adds space around an element, but it adds it outside the border.

3. For each of the following, identify whether it would be done in HTML or CSS:

(a)  HTML  organize items in a table
(b)  HTML  include an image
(c)  CSS  set the width of an element
(d)  CSS  change the text alignment of a paragraph
(e)  CSS  change the background color of the page
4. Fill in the following table with the corresponding decimal or hexcode representation of the number. For partial credit, show your work.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Decimal</th>
<th>Hexcode</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>11</td>
<td>B</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>17</td>
<td>#11</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>20</td>
<td>#14</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>171</td>
<td>#ab</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>255</td>
<td>#ff</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

#11 = 16*1 + 1 = 17
20/16 = 1 remainder 4
#ab = 16*#a + #b = 16*10 + 11 = 160 + 11 = 171
#ff = 16*#f + #f = 16*15 + 15 = 240+15 = 255

5. Write the HTML that does the following:

(a) makes a text box where the user can enter their name:
   ```html
   <input type="text" name="name" id="name" value=""/>

(b) makes a “submit” button with label, “Order now”:
   ```html
   <input type="submit" value="Order Now"/>

(c) allows the user to select condiments for their order from salt, pepper, garlic (allow multiple items to be selected):
   ```html
   <input type="checkbox" name="extras[]" value="salt" id="salt">Salt
   <input type="checkbox" name="extras[]" value="pepper" id="pepper">Pepper
   <input type="checkbox" name="extras[]" value="garlic" id="garlic">Garlic

(d) makes a drop-down menu with a choice of: “House Blend,” “Shade Grown Bolivia,” “Organic Guatemala,” or “Kenya.”
   ```html
   <select name="beans">
     <option value="House Blend">House Blend</option>
     <option value="Bolivia">Shade Grown Bolivia Supremo</option>
     <option value="Guatemala">Organic Guatemala</option>
     <option value="Kenya">Kenya</option>
   </select>
   ```

10. Write a complete HTML file and CSS file to display a blog page. The page should have a header (with title) and a footer (with your contact information), as well as a navigation sidebar with links to the entries in your page. You should include at least three entries, each containing the date, a short paragraph, and an image. When the user clicks on a date listed in the sidebar menu, the page should reload to that part of the page (hint: use destination anchors). The sidebar should appear to the right of the blog entries, and the footer should be at the bottom of the page, not overlapping any other section (i.e. it should “clear” all other sections).

August 20, 2005

Well I made it 1200 miles already, and I passed through some interesting places on the way:

July 14, 2005

I saw some Burma Shave style signs on the side of the road today:

Passing cars,
When you can’t see,
May get you,
A glimpse,
Of eternity.

June 2, 2005

My first day of the trip! I can’t believe I finally got everything packed and ready to go.
